Your revenue is currently driven by the iphone 14 Pro and the 14 Pro Max, which are your best-sellers. In contrast, the iphone 15 series is underperforming, and older models like the 13 are generating very little profit. To improve, you should prioritize keeping the 14-series in stock while clearing out the slower-moving 13 and 15 series models to free up space for the top earners

Your monthly revenue shows a cycle of unpredictable ups and downs,peaking sharply in November before dropping significantly in December. This pattern suggests you are heavily dependent on holiday shopping events to drive sales. To create a more stable income year-round,you should identify which marketing tactics worked during your November peak and apply smaller versions of them during your slower months. You can aslo run off-peak promotions or loyalty rewards during quiet times like january and august to keep customers buying consistently.BY actively creating your own demand throughout the year, you will reduce your reliance on seasonal spikes and ensure a steadier flow of cash insights

Overall Performance The store moved 462 units across 312 orders, with a strong average order value of $1,487 and total revenue of $463,938. The gap between units and orders suggests many customers bought multiple items per transaction.

Top-Selling Products The iPhone 14 Pro Max and 14 Pro dominate revenue by a wide margin, with the 15 Pro Max a distant third. Older models (13, 15, 15 Plus) contribute minimally, indicating customers strongly prefer flagship-tier devices.

Storage Preferences 128GB is the clear winner at 218,979 units, followed by 256GB at 138,563. 512GB lags significantly, suggesting most buyers prioritize affordability over maximum storage.

User Tier Split 71.99% of users are on the Premium tier vs. 28.01% Standard — a healthy sign that the customer base skews toward high-value buyers.

Geographic Revenue Nigeria leads all countries at $52,248, followed by Germany ($42,158) and UAE ($19,780). Nigeria being the top market is notable and suggests strong local demand worth doubling down on.

Monthly Revenue Trend Revenue started low in January ($26K), climbed through the year, and peaked in November at ~$50,651 before dipping in December to $33,266. The November spike likely reflects holiday/Black Friday demand.

Payment Methods Bank Transfer and Debit Card appear most used (highlighted in the filter), suggesting customers prefer direct payment over credit or digital wallets like Apple Pay and PayPal.
